Dear participants,
Greetings.

We are delighted to welcome you to this two day International conference being organized by Sri Jai Narayan PG College, Lucknow in collaboration with Bhasha Sansthan, Lucknow on 21st and 22nd December 2018.

On one hand the present philosophy of Nationalism is based on economic, political, social and cultural unity while on the other it is often condemned as being the weapon of a particular community against other communities. At present the nation is surrounded by disruptive force on all sides which tend to weaken the culture fabric both from outside and inside. Pseudo-secularism, vote politics and political aspirations have converted Nationalism into an instrument for fulfillment of various selfish motives while the intellectuals are busy in staging various hollow conceptual rhetoric. This has caused a depression in the public leading to insensitivity towards national interest. It is surprising to note that Nationalism has also been categorized in terms like fierce or militant Nationalism and soft or generous Nationalism. In a sense it feels like the term Nationalism is being scrutinized for its ulterior meaning. This has brought in a requirement of discussion about the true meaning objectives and challenges of Nationalism in modern Indian context. The present International conference on "Adhunik Bharat mein Rashtravaad Parikalpana aur Chunautiyan" meaning "Nationalism in modern India: Concept and challenges" , is our effort towards the same.

Together with the concept of Nationalism we also need to discuss and give special attention to the difference between the related concepts of casteism and communalism. The relationships and differences between concepts Nationalism, Secularism, Indian Nationalism and Hindu nationalism also need to be discussed at length. It would be our effort during this conference, to encourage fruitful dialogue on all these issues and come up with some concrete conclusions regarding the challenge faced by the nationalistic philosophy So that in face of disruptive forces a road map towards development can be brought up.

The organizing committee welcomes all the indulging participants on this podium and anticipates that this conference will be instrumental in clearing various misconceptions about Nationalism and would help the academia to view the philosophy of Nationalism in its true perspective. We are hopeful that the arbitrations of this conference will help us in building stronger and more unified nation. We sincerely anticipate your gracious presence and your invaluable ideas, on the occasion.
